some think it is best to administer the hormone when it is supposedly naturally secreted either during bedtime or during exercise.
compassionate friends has given help to many people who have lost their child.
other common side effects include hot flashes, bloating, weight gain, mood swings, nausea and dizziness, headaches, and abnormal menstrual bleeding, among others.